Fish Kill on North Branch of Embarrass

Fish Kill Identified by Reservation Stockbridge-Munsee Community working with other government agencies in relation to water oxygen issues that resulted in a fish kill on the North Branch of Embarrass River

Bowler, Wisconsin (May 22, 2023). On the afternoon of May 16, 2023, the Stockbridge-Munsee Community’s (“Tribe”) Ecology Department identified that low oxygen levels were occurring in a stretch of the North Branch of the Embarrass River that runs through the Tribe’s reservation area. The Tribe contacted the Wisconsin Department of Natural Resources about the issue. The Tribe is continuing to monitor water quality and the impact of the low oxygen level event, which resulted in a fish kill along the river.

While investigations into the fish kill are ongoing, there is no indication that the water along this section of the river is unsafe for recreational use or that fish caught in the river are unsafe for human consumption. If conditions or recommendations change, the Tribe will provide timely notice of such changes.

Makena Arndt is the new Natural Resource Tech.

Some of job duties Makena will be doing are composting, dealing with solid waste and recycling, weather station operation and unsightly yard issues. Arndt will also be assisting the other natural resource departments. Makena graduated from UW-Stevens Point with a bachelor’s degree in Wildlife ecology and a minor in biology.

Makena has worked in the area in the past, she was a waitress at Captains Cove resort, and spent time as the Midwest CASC Intern at the College of Menominee Nation’s Sustainable Development Institute.

in her free time Arndt enjoys the outdoors: hunting, fishing, hiking, photographing nature. Makena also enjoys drawing and playing sports.

Reburial visit to Princeton, New Jersey

Front Row: Katelyn Lucas (THPO, Delaware Nation), Carissa Speck (Historic Preservation Director, Delaware Nation), Monique Tyndall (Cultural Affairs Director, Stockbridge Munsee), Shannon Holsey (President, Stockbridge-Munsee), Deborah Dotson (President, Delaware Nation), Bonney Hartley (Tribal Historic Preservation Manager, Stockbridge-Munsee)

Earlier this spring, representatives from the three Federally-recognized Lenape Nations—the Stockbridge-Munsee Community, Delaware Tribe, and Delaware Nation—conducted a reburial ceremony of four ancestors in coordination with Princeton University in New Jersey.

The ancestors had been disturbed in the early 1900s during construction work on campus and had been awaiting reburial ever since. Under the Native American Graves Protection and Repatriation Act (NAGPRA), representatives of the three Lenape Nations submitted a claim to affiliate the ancestors as most likely Lenape people based on their geographic location. The claim was approved and a notice was published in the Federal Register. The reburial had been postponed from a planned date in fall of 2020 due to Covid, and was finally able to take place now.

Tribal leadership in attendance included Stockbridge-Munsee President Shannon Holsey, Delaware Nation President Deborah Dotson, and

Delaware Tribe Councilman Bruce Martin. Staff participating for Stockbridge-Munsee were Cultural Affairs Director Monique Tyndall and Tribal Historic Preservation Manager Bonney Hartley. The group gathered to respectfully re-inter the ancestors in a private ceremony. In addition, a Lenape historical plaque had been installed on campus as part of the consultation on this project and the delegation was able to visit it. An excerpt reads:

“In 1779, a delegation of ten Lenape Chiefs and their aides camped near this site after advocating for funding from Congress for the education of descendants of Chief White Eyes, who had been murdered by a soldier he had helped guide while serving as a captain in the American army. The Continental Congress agreed to this request, becoming the first instance of United States aid to the education of Native Americans. George White Eyes became one of four members of his Nation to matriculate at Princeton University in the eighteenth century.”

It also includes a quote from Stockbridge-Munsee ancestor Bartholomew S. Calvin, also known as Shawushkukhkung or “Wilted Grass,” who was educated at Princeton and returned in 1832 to address the New Jersey Legislature to argue for fishing and hunting rights.

It was a significant occasion for the delegation to return to these lands that hold multiple layers of Lenape history and to respectfully lay the ancestors back to rest at last.

Sheldon Malone, age 83, passed away on Sunday June 4, 2023, at his home in Bowler. Sheldon was born in Tomah, Wisconsin on January 31, 1940, to the late Arthur and Cleo (Welch) Malone.

Sheldon grew up on the Stockbridge-Munsee Reservation. He started his working life at a young age as a logger with his father. On September 26, 1959, he married the love of his life Joanne Huntington at Assembly of God in Morgan. Joanne preceded Sheldon in death in 2016.

Sheldon worked as a forklift operator at the shipping docks in Milwaukee for several years. Joanne and Sheldon returned to the Stockbridge-Munsee Reservation full time in 1988. After returning to the area Sheldon worked security and maintenance for North Star Casino.

In his free time, he enjoyed working on cars. There wasn’t anything on cars he couldn’t repair, and he loved building classic muscle cars.

He had a passion for music and loved to sing and dance. His legendary dance moves were often inspired by James Brown and Elvis Presley. He was a wonderful father, grandfather, and beloved uncle and will be deeply missed by the family he leaves behind.

Sheldon is preceded in death by his wife Joanne; a great grandson, Dante; his parents; his father-in-law and mother-in-law, Eugene and Flora (Howe) Huntington; and siblings, Arthur Tod Malone, Martin Malone, Alvines Taylor, Violet (Earl) Hill and Evon (Robert) Lasher.
Veterans Burial Benefits

Effective July 7, 2014: VA is changing its monetary burial benefits regulations to simplify the program and pay eligible survivors more quickly and efficiently. These regulations will authorize VA to pay, without a written application, most eligible surviving spouses basic monetary burial benefits at the maximum amount authorized in law through automated systems rather than reimbursing them for actual costs incurred.

Under the current regulations, VA pays for burial and funeral expenses on a reimbursement basis, which requires survivors to submit receipts for relatively small one-time payments that VA generally pays at the maximum amount permitted by law.

The new burial regulations will permit VA to pay, at a flat rate, burial and plot or interment allowances thereby enabling VA to automate payment of burial benefits to most eligible surviving spouses and more efficiently process other burial benefit claims.

The burial allowance for a non-service-connected death is $300, and $2,000 for a death connected to military service.

Benefit:

Service-related Death: VA will pay up to $2,000 toward burial expenses for deaths on or after September 11, 2001, or up to $1,500 for deaths prior to September 11, 2001. If the Veteran is buried in a VA national cemetery, some or all of the cost of transporting the deceased may be reimbursed.

Non-service-related Death: VA will pay up to $796 toward burial and funeral expenses for deaths on or after December 1, 2001, but before October 1, 2011, or after April 1, 1986 but before October 1, 2011, VA will pay $300 toward burial and funeral expenses (for Veterans hospitalized by VA at the time of death).

An annual increase in burial and plot allowances for deaths occurring after October 1, 2011 began in fiscal year 2013 based on the Consumer Price Index for the preceding 12-month period.

Eligibility Requirements:

You paid for a Veteran’s burial or funeral, AND
You have not been reimbursed by another government agency or some other source, such as the deceased Veteran’s employer, AND
The Veteran was discharged under conditions other than dishonorable, AND
The Veteran died because of a service-related disability, OR
The Veteran was receiving VA pension or compensation at the time of death, OR
The Veteran was entitled to receive VA pension or compensation, but decided not to reduce his/her military retirement or disability pay, OR
The Veteran died while hospitalized by VA, OR
The Veteran died while receiving care under VA contract at a non-VA facility, OR
The Veteran died while traveling under proper authorization and at VA expense to or from a specified place for the purpose of examination, treatment, or care, OR
The Veteran had an original or reopened claim pending at the time of death and has been found entitled to compensation or pension from a date prior to the date or death, OR

How to Apply:

You can apply online at Vets.gov, OR
To submit a paper application, download and complete VA Form 21P-530, Application for Burial Allowance and mail it to the Pension Management Center that serves your state, OR
Work with an accredited representative, OR
You may also go to your local regional benefit office and turn in your application for processing.

Additional Information

Other information regarding VA burial benefits such as flags, headstones and markers is provided by the National Cemetery Administration.

The Tribal Veterans Service Office can help you or a family member apply for funeral benefits and a grave marker if requested. Normally the Funeral Home Director will initiate funeral benefits and a flag for the funeral service.

Foodborne Hepatitis A

With the recent Hepatitis A breakout from frozen organic strawberries some questions have been raised in the community. Here is some basic information on food borne Hepatitis A and how to help keep yourself and family safe.

What is Hepatitis A?
Hepatitis A liver disease caused by the Hepatitis A virus (HAV) and is a vaccine-preventable illness. HAV can spread from person to person or via contaminated food and beverages.

What do you get Hepatitis A?
HAV can spread a few different ways including by coming into contact with the feces of an HAV-infected person (such as if they do not properly wash their hands after using the toilet), consuming food or drinks prepared by a HAV-infected food handler, or consuming foods contaminated during growing, harvesting or processing.

What foods can have Hepatitis A?
Uncooked foods that have caused Hepatitis A outbreaks include frozen berries, green onions, and raw shellfish.

What are the signs and symptoms of Hepatitis A?
Symptoms usually begin 15-50 days after a person is infected and can range from mild illness for 1-2 weeks to severe illness lasting months. Symptoms include:
- Fever
- Fatigue
- Loss of appetite
- Diarrhea
- Nausea or vomiting
- Abdominal pain
- Yellowing of the skin or eyes
- Light-colored feces
- Dark-colored urine

Some people do not have any symptoms.

How can I reduce my risk of getting Hepatitis A?
The simplest way is to receive the Hepatitis A vaccine. This is usually given to all children at age 1 year but anyone not previously vaccinated should consider the Hepatitis A vaccine and discuss this with their healthcare provider.

To reduce exposure risk to HAV:
- Wash hands with warm water and soap for at least 20 seconds before and after handling raw foods
- Thoroughly wash hands after using the bathroom and changing diapers for protection against hepatitis A, and other foodborne illnesses
- Wash the inside walls and shelves of the refrigerator, cutting boards, countertops, and utensils that may have contaminated foods; then sanitize them with a solution of one tablespoon chlorine bleach to one gallon of hot water; dry with a clean cloth or paper towel that has not been previously used.
- Wash hands with warm water and soap following the cleaning and sanitation process.

For further questions or concerns about testing and treatment please talk with your healthcare provider.

Also, you can visit https://www.fda.gov/food/foodborne-pathogens/hepatitis-virus-hav for more information.

Ten Tips

- Avoid caffeine and alcohol. Even if you can fall asleep quickly after drinking caffeine or alcohol it often interferes with being able to stay asleep.
- Wind-down and relax. Begin your body’s natural relaxation response to drift off to sleep by doing breathing exercises.
- Consistent bedtime routine. By following a consistent sleep schedule, you’ll help train your brain to naturally feel tired at bedtime.
- Avoid bright lights. Shut off lights in your home as it nears bedtime. If you have access to light, turn on the light which blocks the release of the hormone that helps us fall asleep and stay asleep.
- Relaxing environment. Keeping your room quiet and at a comfortable temperature can help you get a good night’s rest. Consider a fan or white noise to help.
